

Service Recovery Dashboard

Cloudataware leverages native relationships between cloud infrastructure assets and advanced BI Analytics to provide recovery model dashboards that become a uniform view for detecting single points of failure.

Using the service recovery dashboard, customers can better understand how workloads are distributed across cloud zones and regions to indicate weak points that can result in a service outage.